

Toward Achieving Well-Being

“Well-being” means being “physically and mentally healthy and satisfied with your everyday life.”

For example, being able to enjoy school life, having an environment where you feel safe and at ease, and feeling that you are valued are all important for maintaining stable, balanced days both physically and mentally.

For adults as well, continuing to learn throughout life, staying connected to society, having a sense of purpose, and finding fulfillment in work all contribute to achieving well-being. Narita City aims to create a society where everyone in schools, at home, and in the community can feel happiness and a sense of purpose through all educational activities.

Narita City

~Learning Together, Growing into the Future~

Narita

A city where everyone
can be themselves,
learning together
and thriving together
into the future

About the Formulation

Narita City has promoted learning that values each individual's uniqueness and moves forward together with the community. The shape of education has been undergoing major change in recent years, with the growing use of ICT and an increasing need to support children with diverse backgrounds and challenges.

There is a stronger need than ever for a society where, even as adults, people can continue learning in their own way and use it to benefit others.

With this in mind, we have formulated a new plan with the basic philosophy of "Narita, a city where everyone can be themselves, learning together and thriving together into the future."

We will move forward toward becoming a city where children can grow up healthy within the community, and where both adults and children can look to the future and continue learning, with each person's happiness (well-being) flourishing.

1

We aim to nurture children who possess the ability to proactively shape the future by learning in their own way according to their individual circumstances, as well as by joining with others to learn together.

2

We aim not only to acquire knowledge and skills, but also to cultivate an essential sense of humanity through shared learning, thereby enhancing the well-being of every individual.

3

We aim to realize a city where everyone can thrive together by enabling every citizen to develop their abilities and motivation and putting the results of their learning into practice.
